

2. Executive Summary

During the Fall Semester of the 2016-2017 school year, Adams 12 Five Star School District teamed with Revolution Advisors and Lexicon & Line to administer surveys regarding programs addressing the health and well-being of students within the district. Similar surveys were conducted across parents, school district staff and middle and high school students; asking what health and well-being components were most important, how effective the school district is currently in those areas and upon which areas the school district should focus future programs.

Survey participation was higher than the targeted numbers for each of the three groups. The number of surveys collected was:

- Parent Surveys: 713
- Staff Surveys: 2,210
- Student Surveys: 1,709

Rankings of Importance

The survey results for parents, staff and students were similar in the ranking of the health and well-being components in terms of importance to the students. Physical Education & Physical Activity came in first in importance for all three groups. Parents and students agree on the importance of Health Education while staff and students agree on Counseling, Psychological and Social Services. Parents and staff agree on the importance of Social & Emotional Climate.

	Parents	Staff	Students
1	Physical Education & Physical Activity	Physical Education & Physical Activity	Physical Education & Physical Activity
2	Health Education	Social & Emotional Climate	Health Education
3	Social & Emotional Climate	Counseling, Psychological and Social Services	Counseling, Psychological and Social Services

Two-Year Focus

Parents and staff also have the same priorities for the school district focus for the next two years. Students have similar priorities with the addition of Health Education, as Counseling, Psychological and Social Services came in as a close fourth focus area for students.

	Parents	Staff	Students
1	Physical Education & Physical Activity	Social & Emotional Climate	Physical Education & Physical Activity
2	Counseling, Psychological and Social Services	Physical Education & Physical Activity	Health Education
3	Social & Emotional Climate	Counseling, Psychological and Social Services	Social & Emotional Climate
